Hello Joe,

Please find attached Anadarko's responses to the Table 3 – Areas of Concern outlined in the Anadarko Petroleum – Uinta Basin Wellpad inspections On-Site Partial Compliance Evaluation Report. Anadarko conducted follow-up OGI inspections, on March 7, 2019, for any of the concerns where OGI emissions were observed and made repairs where possible. Please note that the wellpads that were inspected are older and very low producing and are not subject to the tank control requirements or LDAR inspection requirements of OOOO or OOOOa. Anadarko is appreciative of EPA's inspection and sharing of the results so we could address the items of concern. If there is anything that Anadarko can do to help minimize the time between the inspections and notifications we would be happy to discuss with the EPA. Let me know if you have any questions or require any additional clarification.

Thank you,
Jillian

Hi Joe,

Thank you for sending this over. We will review the report and work to provide a response to the identified Areas of Concern as noted by the inspectors in the next two weeks. If you could provide us the photos or videos taken that would be very helpful to assist in identifying the source of the concern.

Thank you,

Hi Natalie,

Pursuant to the below notification email, EPA Region 8 completed inspections of several of your company's operations in the Uinta Basin in July/August 2018. The attached final inspection report summarizes inspector observations made during these reviews.

Table 3 in the report identifies Areas of Concern noted by the inspectors. Please be advised that while the inspection report is finalized, it does not make any final determinations of compliance.

If you have any questions about the information contained in the attached report, please let me know.

Best regards,
Joe Wilwerding

Subject: Notification of inspections on the Uintah & Ouray Indian (U&O) Reservation

This email is being sent to notify your company that the EPA will be conducting inspections within the Uintah & Ouray Indian (U&O) Reservation in July and August 2018. EPA Region 8 and the National Enforcement Investigations Center (NEIC) will be using a Geospatial Measurement of Air Pollution (GMAP) vehicle (photo below) and Optical Gas Imaging cameras to conduct evaluations of oil & gas wellpad facilities. This work will contribute to EPA's ongoing efforts to better locate and characterize air pollution sources as well as screen for compliance status. We will not be going on-site at the wellpads evaluated.

This email is intended to provide your company and its contractors notification of what the GMAP vehicle looks like, should they see the vehicle in the field. We will not be going on-site, but will be performing evaluations from the perimeter of the wellpad. We will not be providing operators notification of the date, time, or location of the inspections.

If you have any questions, please contact Joe Wilwerding before July 12, 2018 at wilwerding.joseph@epa.gov, and Cindy Beeler on or after July 12, 2018 at beeler.cindy@epa.gov.
